Consulting Services for phpMyAdmin

Report - April 2021

Overview

The month of April 2021 was dedicated to fixing issues and merging or closing pull-requests. I also wrote test cases and removed deprecated or unused code. Fixed infrastructure scripts and searched for issues on the error reporting server. This month I improved some code and fixed a memory issue on the PHP format export.

First week (week number 13)

This week I wrote test cases, updated the documentation. And did issue and pull-request management with some bug reproducing. Also tested all the interface and fixed the bugs I found. I searched for issues on the error reporting server and fixed the ones I could reproduce.

Second week (week number 14)

I was not working on the project

Third week (week number 15)

This week I fixed our URL encoding and removed a useless JS library. I wrote some test cases and started to setup phpbench for performance benchmarking. Also fixed issues and made the GIS GUI work fine, and merged pull-requests. I also searched and fixed issues reported on the error reporting server. And improved the error reporting server by upgrading the JS library for datatables.

Fourth week (week number 16)

I worked on code improvements and optimizations, closed issues and merged pull-requests. Did some bug fixing and fixed a the PHP format Export on large databases. And did some testing on Windows IIS and also worked on issue and pull-request triage. I made some minor UI improvements, and worked on the Sentry migration.

Fifth week (week number 17)

This week I did handle issues and pull-requests, also removed some tech debt by removing non working or deprecated code. Did a lot of bug fixing and wrote some tests, and worked on updating and fixing scripts that are used by our infrastructure. And did a bit of security research in our code-base.
